

Dress Code Policy

Uniforms help students learn to be disciplined as well as maintain modesty and cleanliness. When students prepare for the school day, putting on a uniform allows them to focus on their role as a student without any unnecessary distractions. We believe that adhering to the uniform policy aids in students' academic success.

School uniforms should fit the child properly and modestly. They should be kept free of stains, holes, tears, etc. Items that have faded or become damaged should be discarded. Young ladies' hems on jumpers or skirts must be no shorter than 2 inches above the knee. Undershirts should not be visible beneath the blouse.

Knox Classical Academy acknowledges that adhering to the Dress Code Policy may challenge previous notions of individuality and style for your children. However, for the reason stated above parents need to make sure all students are in compliance during school hours.
